

Checklist for a successful Block Party

Build a team

Find a few like-minded neighbours and/or property manager who supports a Block Party and is willing to help organize.

Pick a day

Weekends are popular with many people, but a weekday evening may also make sense for your neighbours.

Pick a time

Consider the needs of families in your neighbourhood. It is a good idea to end your event by 9 p.m.

Determine location

Online, private property, street, alley or parkland

Plan activities

Remember to keep it simple! Avoid the urge to overplan and be sure to allow for some unstructured activity

Equipment rental

If you will be borrowing equipment from the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues, you will need to reserve it in advance.

Invite your neighbours

Once all the details are set you can reach out to your RA and get them to send communication of the gathering with all the details to by email to the addresses you want. Also reach out to Brookfield Residential with all the details for their support.

Have fun and capture the memories!
